DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because they disclose a claimed invention that is an “abstract idea” as defines in the case In re Warmerdam, 33, F.3d 1354, 31 USPQ 2d 1754 (Fed. Cir 1994).

Analysis: Claims 1-14 found to be in technological art since the invention is to be practiced by using a computer. Each of the claims is disclosed by applicant as being a “method of building database in an exchange system”. Since the claims are each a series of steps to be performed on computer the process must be analyzed to determine whether they are statutory under 35 U.S.C. 101.

Examiner believes that the claims are program per se and are no more than manipulation of data and producing a useful results. Further the claims are just merely an abstract idea for building a data base and no involvement of computer medium so that it functionality can be realized for enablement. Thus, claims 1-14 are non-statutory and rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McGauley USPN 5,899,998.

Regarding claims 1, 7, 11, 15, 17, 21-23, 27, 33, 37 and 41

McGauley et al teaches:

- receiving metadata including organization information, patient demo-graphic data, and information locator data (column 2, lines 45-58, “each card... on the PDCs”);
- determining a universal person object corresponding to the demo- graphic data (see figures 3 and 5, column 30-42, “ record object... in size”);
- updating the universal person object in accordance with the metadata (column 8, line 60); and
- storing the information locator data so that the information locator data is associated with the universal person object (column 25, line 20-“).

Regarding claims 2-6, 16, 28-32 and 38

McGauley et al teaches:

- searching the database for an existing universal person corresponding to the patient demographic data and determining that there is no existing universal person object corresponding to the patient demographic data (column 9, lines 14-20, “update object... audit fields 247” and lines 35-41, “ is to identify... independent database”);and
- creating the universal person object corresponding to the patient demo-graphic data (column 4, lines 16-20, “object may be created...”).

Art Unit: 2124

Regarding claims 8, 12, 18 and 34

McGauley et al teaches:

- determining if a pointer exists in the primary database, the pointer indicating a remote database in a remote domain (column 29, line 36”), and
- if the pointer exists, correlating the query against the remote database in the remote domain (column 3, lines 10-27, independent PDC-POS... less expensive”).

Regarding claims 9, 10, 13, 14, 19, 20, 24-26, 35, 36, 39 and 40

McGauley et al teaches:

- presenting correlation results to the provider (column 9, lines 9-12, “it also assure the accurate...”); and
- receiving constraints and parameters from the provider, the constraints and parameters for directing the retrieving of the locator data (column 9, lines 15-21).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
